Kylie Love is an associate in Pacifica's Public Law and Finance Practice Group. She advises municipalities regarding a variety of public law issues including state and federal constitutional issues, government regulation, public records policy and disclosure, open public meetings, ethics, and other governmental authority and Washington law matters. She also represents and defends municipalities and public entities in a range of disputes, challenges, litigation and appeals.

Kylie brings a strong public service background to her legal practice. Before joining Pacifica, she served as a law clerk to the Honorable David G. Estudillo of the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Washington, and to the Honorable Ian S. Birk of the Washington Court of Appeals, Division I. During law school, Kylie served as Editor-in-Chief of the Law Journal for Social Justice and was a student in the Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law Post-Conviction Clinic where she investigated wrongful convictions.

In her free time, Kylie enjoys hiking, traveling, and spending time with her partner and dog.
